The Linguistic Analyzer is used to analyze the text of a document and then compare it to the text of another standards document to see how well the product fulfills certain requirements. It is being develop by Tyler Blanton and Paul Brown for Medtronic PLC. Once it is done Tyler and Paul will graduate and their lives as engineers will begin.